Who is this guy

{ I have been a storyteller and video editor for the last 15 years. I recently fell in love with programming and moved to the web development field. I am passionate about having a positive impact in the community, and I want to develop company ideas in efficient, creative and entertaining ways.

After completing an intensive Front-End Web Development Bootcamp, I am keen to join a company that fosters a growing culture where I can apply and expand my coding skills. };
